The Weekday News

JANUARY 2010

A Word from our Director

I hope you had a wonderful Christmas at your home. The children have jumped right back into school and enjoyed this first week of 2010.

It's time to register for next year. We have produced packets this year with pre-filled forms. Tuition pricing has increased to cover the longer school year and the 9:00-2:00 school day (9-12 on Mondays). The curriculum for our 2-1/2s—4s will be expanded next year. Your child will experience a full day of learning!. We will model our calendar on HPISD's 10-11 calendar. We hope to have our school calendar available to you within the next few weeks. You will be able to go on-line to register on January 19 (UPUMC church families) and January 20-22 (Weekday School families who are not church members). These dates are for our current students. If you have another child that you would like to register for next year, please turn in a new student application by January 15.

The drawings for the classroom renovations are complete. We anticipate the school will get a facelift this summer. Stop by the school office to see the conceptual design drawing.

If you have any questions, give me a call (214-361-4626) or stop by the office.

Pam

And the weather outside is frightful...

The Weekday School follows the Highland Park ISD school closings schedule. If Highland Park schools close, then we will be closed. If Highland park schools open late because of weather, we will remain closed for the day. We will notify room moms if we close the school so that they can notify the parents in each class.
